4. Comments from the Participants (Extract)

◆ I am truly honored to have participated in this program. I am deeply grateful to the Japanese Government for giving me the opportunity to learn deeply about Japanese rich and various cultures. I have learned that the Philippines and Japan shared common values and interests, especially in terms of their resilience after experiencing various disasters. I also admire the value of education and progress in Japanese technology. I look forward to strengthening and more deepening the friendship between the Philippines and Japan. This experience is definitely worth sharing with my Philippine colleagues and family.

- ◆ Japan is a very unique and interesting country. I think Japanese people are very kind and disciplined, and their culture is very different from other Asian countries. During my stay, I often felt that we were accepted by Japanese people. In Nagasaki, I really felt that I was being a part of my Host-family. They treated me like their true son. I felt very lucky to have a home-stay experience by staying at a private house. I will tell my Philippine friends that they should visit Japan someday in their life. Experience changes our life and Japan is worth a visit.
- ◆ Through our stay and activities this time, we could be fortunate to learn what Japan was and how they had established themselves as a firm country. We all appreciate it. Japan, like the Philippines, has experienced their own struggles and crises, and I think they overcame those things and can become one of the world's leading countries in stability. It is very interesting for me to know how Japanese people have achieved their current position and could extend their support to other countries such as the Philippines. I think that their strong discipline and commitment to peace, which contribute to world peace, are one of the many factors for the Philippines to impress with Japan. I enjoyed the very instructive and insightful stay, lectures and interactions in Japan. I will definitely be back to Japan.

5. Comments from the hosts (Extract)

- ◆ As Philippine diplomats came to visit us, it led Philippine staffs, who were being active in EPA, to have increased their motivation. We are glad to know that they have known there are active Philippine staffs in Japanese hospitals by using such a system. We would be happy if they could cooperate with further activation on exchanges for both of countries by EPA after returning to their country. Thanks a lot for visiting us (Ryokuseikai Hospital)
- ◆ It was a short stay in two nights for the participants though, almost everyone could go to the hot springs, and they seemed that they enjoyed with each family else having the fulfilling experience for picking vegetables such as sweet potatoes in the fields, picking ginkgo nut at a shrine, foot-bathing, climbing to Mt.Kunimidake, visiting Jigokudani, shopping in the supermarket, wearing a cotton kimono (Yukata), or learning Japanese cooking such as Tempura and etc. It seemed to be a memorable experience for them because they were able to learn what they could not know by just sightseeing. (Minamishimabara Sunflower Tourism Association)
- When young Philippine diplomats visited us, I found that everyone in the Philippines was very interested in Olympic and Paralympics. It seemed we had an enough time here for each other though, they were feeling its short so please come and visit us again next time. (Olympic Museum)

6. External Communication from the Participants

Rokuseikai Hospital responds to people needs, which are postoperative treatment and rehabilitation, especially for elderly people having disease such as stroke and non-use of muscles. There are many Philippine nurses who are working in the hospital. Some of them were active as guides in visiting different units / sections in the hospital. I think they are really happy to work in the hospital because the management team is working hard to ensure a good working environment for staff. I would like Philippine nurses, who are looking for a work abroad, to consider coming to Japan through Economic Partnership Agreement.

3rd day [Isahaya city]

We went to Nagasaki Prefecture from Tokyo. Our first activity was a courtesy call to Deputy Mayor Isahaya city. After that, we visited various landmarks in the city, such as Isahaya Museum of Art and History, and Megane bashi designated firstly in Japan as National important cultural property. The city also has a trans cosmos stadium (or Nagasaki General Athletic Park Athletic Field). Founded in 1969 and renovated in 2013, after 2013, the stadium has been used primarily for local and national football matches. Isahaya city will be a Host-town for the Philippines team for Tokyo 2020 Olympic and Paralympics Games.
